The following fact sheet provides quick information about enrolling with Seminary Extension. Since our students often choose to enroll in individual courses for personal growth and development, it is important to know the difference between enrolling in a course and enrolling in a program.

- Enrolling in individual courses is not the same as enrolling in a program
- Courses taken prior to enrolling in a program may be transferred into a program at a later date-for information on this possibility, you will need to contact a Seminary Extension student counselor
- Students are not required to enroll in a program in order to take Seminary Extension classes
- To enroll in a course, students must be 16 years old or older
- If a student wants the possibility of transferring credits in the future, they must submit a copy of their High School transcript, GED, or demonstrate their Ability to Benefit from the course
- Students must sign and date a Course Application for each course and they must initial the Disclosure of Transferability of Credit form attached to the application

For Program Enrollment

- Students who have taken individual courses are encouraged to enroll in a program
- Students who want to enroll in a program must complete a Program Pre-enrollment Agreement and Checklist
